MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 15 .- A red hot debate over the sum to be anpropriated for mission work in India missionary committee of the Methodist church. The committee to whom the matter had been referred reported an appropriation of $127,729 to be divided as the board in New York might determine between the north, northwest and south India, Bombay where now we disagree. and Bengal-Burmah conferences. recommendations. The latter said that if it were possible to put $100,000 dists in India in a very few years.

Bishop Fowler led the opposition. "The tide of money," he said, "had set in toward India to the discredit of other missions. This country had been hypnotized by that greatest of Thoburn

Dr. J. M. Buckley, the eloquent editor and preacher of New York, spoke in the same strain. India, he thought, was getting too much. He criticised the Woman's Foreign Missionary society for taking collections in churches, in fact, wherever they could get a dollar, all for India. Compar-ing China with India, he said that the Chinese were kept out, while the Hindoos could come it by the tens of Navy to-day from Commander Picking thousands if they wanted to The at Rio: late President Harrison had not vetoed the Geary law.
